Welcome to our Presente de Indicativo grammar lesson on Spanish present time. Present Time is the first thing we learn in any Spanish course. We use it primarily to stand up for facts, and we also talk about ordinary actions and events. This lesson teaches you everything about the present time: how to conjugate verbs and how to use them, giving example phrases. In the end you will find skvíz and exercises in practice. Conjugation of verbs in the present tense There are 3 verbs from regular and irregular verbs in Spanish, looking at their ending: verbs such as hablar. Verbs in -er, such as comer. Verbs in -ir, such as vivir. Unfortunately, the ending doesn't say anything about whether it is regular or irregular. Regular verbs: Remove -ar, -er, -ir at the end of the infin period, leaving only the stem. Attach an end to the stem. The endings are different for -ar, -er, and -ir operations. These endings are highlighted in the following table: hablarto speakbeberto drinkpartirto departure yohablobeboparto túhablasbespartes edge, ella, ustedhablabebeparte nosotros, nosotrashablamosbebemospartimos vosotros, vosotrashabláisbebéispartís ellos, ellas, ustedeslanbehabparten Notice that ... the endings of verbs -er and ir are the same, except for nosotros and vosotros. Irregular verbs in the present tense. The good news is that the above endings still apply to almost all irregular verbs. The irregular verbs in the present tense. The good news is that the above endings still apply to almost all irregular verbs. The irregular verbs in the present tense. conducirto driveconduzco, conduces, conduces, conduces, conduce, conducinos, conducen conocerto knowconozco, conoces, conoce, conoces, conoce, conoces, conoce, conoce verto seeveo, ves, ve, vemos, veis, ven Type 2 – Verbs with a change in the stem for all persons (except nosotros and vosotros) The change is as follows : e or i will be in Examples: cerrarto closecierro, cierras, cierra, cerramos, cerrais, cierran pensarto thinkpienso, piensas, piensa, pensamos, pensáis, piensan quererto wantquiero, quieres, quiere, quiere, except nosotros and vosotros) The change is as follows : e or i will be in Examples: cerrarto closecierro, cierras, cierra, cerramos, cerrais, cierran pensarto thinkpienso, piensas, piensa, pensáis, piensan quererto wantquiero, quieres, quiere, quiere, except nosotros) The change is as follows : e or i will be in Examples: cerrarto closecierro, cierras, cier queremos, quereis, quieren adquirirto acquireadquiero, adquieres, adquieres, adquirimos, adquieren o or u will ue Examples: contarto tellcuento, cuentas, soñamos, soñáis, sueñan jugarto playjuego, juegas, juega, jugamos, jugáis, juegan e will i Examples: pedirto requestpido, pides, pide, pedimos, pedís, piden repetirto repetirto, repites, repite, repite, repites, repite, repetinos, repetinos includeiNcluyo, incluyes, incluimos, incluis, incluyen Type 3 - Verbs in a special yo form and change the stem of other persons (except nosotros)) This third type is a similar mixture of types 1 and 2. Examples: decirto saydigo, cubes, decimos, decis, dicen tenerto havetengo, tienes, tienen, tenemos, tenéis, tienen venirto comevengo, vienes, viene, venimos, venis, vienen Type 4 - Some very irregular verbs here also ser and ir, which do not belong to any of the previous types. Also estar, a peculiar verb, because there are many accent marks. Finally, oler. This follows the o \rightarrow ue pattern, but an h appears at the beginning of most persons. serto besoy, eres, es, somos, sois, son estarto beestoy, evening, está, estamos, evening, evening, evening irto govoy, iron, va, vamos, vais, van olerto smellhuelo, hueles, h Sun.Los foamy frothy anspaol. Argentines speak Spanish. Los Pajaros vuelan. Birds fly. Laura and profesora. Laura's a teacher. La mesa está en el salón. The table is in the living room. Usual actions or events We use the Present Time to talk about things that happen in general, as usual ...: Yo juego al fútbol dos veces por semana. I play football twice a week. Mis amigos trabajan en una oficina. My friends work in an office. Nosotros viajamos by México todos los veranos. We go to Mexico every summer. Things happening at the moment. Or can we use the Present Time: ¿Qué haces? What are you doing? Lavo los platos. I'm doing the dishes. What's Ana doing? Ella baila con un chico. She's dancing with a boy. Things that will happen in the near future tense or the future tense times for this, such as the future tense times for this, such as the future tense or the future tense or the future. casa de mi abuela. I'm eating at my grandmother's tomorrow. Nosotros empezamos un curso de español el mes que viene. We're starting a Spanish course next month. Ordering/Asking It is common in restaurants to take the form of a question at this time. For example, to express I'd have a beer, please, we tend to say the equivalent Put me a beer, please?: ¿Me pone una cerveza, powder favor? I'll have a beer, please? (Will you make me a beer, please?) ¿Well trae la carta, por favor? Can you get us the menu, please? Conditional instructions (if X happens...) The state introduced by si can be expressed in the present time (ha). Si quieres, podemos jugar al tenis. If you want, we can play tennis. Voy al museo si tengo tiempo. I'll go to the museum if I have time. Exercises Now let's practice spanish present time with a quiz and more exercises!
